

State Solons Eye 'Dirty Tricks', Finances

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A special committee of the Legislative Service Commission may add campaign "dirty tricks" and public financing of political contests to the list of deliberations requested by the governor.

Rep. Richard Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, made the suggestions Wednesday at the committee's first meeting.

Gov. John Gilligan had asked that a committee be appointed to hold hearings on election reform measures to be considered at a special session the week of Oct. 22.

Celeste, a committee member, said dirty dealing during political races was not only a federal issue. He said several states are considering legislation to curb it.

He noted that laws regulating public financing of election campaigns are being considered by the Watergate committee in Washington.

Committee Chairman Stanley Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, appointed a six-member subcommittee to study all suggestions and prepare a report for the group's next meeting Sept. 29.

Aronoff said the full committee will begin hearing testimony Oct. 3.

In a letter to Aronoff, Secretary of State Ted Brown suggested the committee also review existing state statutes against fraud and false advertising.

Brown said the state's current laws are "too limited in scope."

Aronoff and other committee members generally agreed that the study will include spending limits by candidates, limits on contributions, the so-called "family" contribution problem and monetary contributions in terms of services rendered a candidate.

Aronoff also had a letter from State Republican Chairman Kent McGough which advocated "reasonable" limits on spending and contributions, a requirement for the spending to be done from a single, accountable fund, and restrictions on government employees who donate to political parties.

McGough said he thinks government employees making political contributions should be required to sign statements saying they did not do so "under coercion."

Aronoff said the state chairman of both major political parties will be among those invited to testify at the Oct. 3 meeting.

Following that session, Aronoff said the panel will meet weekly until a session of one or two days about Oct. 18 or 19. He said he hopes recommendations to the legislature can then be finalized.

Sen. Paul Matia, R-25 Westlake, was named chairman of the subcommittee which consists of three Republicans and the same number of Democrats.

The other members are Sens. Thomas Van Meter, R-19 Ashland and Robert O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus; and Reps. Alan Morris, R-27 Westerville; William Mallory, D-23 Cincinnati, and Don Maddux, D-90 Lancaster.

MIXED-UP MOTHER — A hen on the James Kinser Farm near Stoutsville has adopted a litter of pups. Mr. and Mrs. Kinser said the hen apparently was in the dog house when their Blue Tick Hound, Blackie, gave birth. And since that time she has left the pups only long enough to eat. Blackie accepts Mother Hen's babysitting services with apparent indifference.

Minimum Legal Fees Under Fire As Price Fixing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is setting out to shatter a 178-year-old tradition of America's law profession — the minimum fees recommended by hundreds of bar associations.

The move was to be announced today by one of the department's top trust-busters, Deputy Asst. Atty. Gen. Bruce B. Wilson, in testimony to a House Judiciary subcommittee.

Wilson disclosed in an interview beforehand that investigations are underway into a number of bar associations. He estimated that 600 to 700 state or local groups circulate fee guidelines.

State associations in Florida, Michigan, Massachusetts and some local groups in Pennsylvania recently have announced they would abandon them.

"In reality," Wilson said, in his prepared testimony, "These fee arrangements can be viewed as little more than classic cartel price fixing.

They are per se violations of the anti-trust laws."

The position of the American Bar Association is that no attorney is compelled to follow the recommendations of his local bar and that antitrust laws therefore do not apply.

But Wilson declared that the fee schedules — usually drawn up by a local bar committee and sometimes voted upon by the entire membership — "are often more than mere suggestions. They are often accompanied by the threat of disciplinary action for those who systematically choose to undercut the suggested fee."

The antitrust division, he said in the interview, would likely begin its assault upon the practice by a civil suit rather than criminal action — "in order for the message to get through."

Minimum fees, Wilson noted, have been followed by the nation's attorneys ever since 1795 — when lawyers in Rhode Island were prohibited from charging anything less than $1 for their services.

Reports made from the hospital indicate that Meade is sane and is now able to stand trial.

Common Pleas Court Judge, William Ammer ordered the accused slayer to be returned to stand trial. No definite date for the hearing has been set.

Meade is charged with the January 20th shootings of 16-year-old John Douglas Van Sickle and his mother, Charlotte Ann Van Sickle. Meade allegedly opened fire on the five-member Van Sickle family in a trailer court in Commercial Point, leaving the two dead.

Buckeye Pipeline Co. Faces Pollution Case

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Buckeye Pipeline Co. faces a pre-trial hearing Sept. 27 on a suit charging the firm with polluting the Ottawa Creek last June.

The state contends the firm was responsible for dumping 150,000 gallons of jet fuel into the creek in Hancock and Allen counties.

Buckeye Pipeline has pleaded innocent to the charge. The firm could be fined as much as $10,000.

Compromise On Tapes Before Appeals Judges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and the Watergate special prosecutor were to tell the U.S. Court of Appeals today whether they have agreed to its proposed solution to the legal battle over presidential tapes.

Each side is scheduled to file a response to the court's proposal that special prosecutor Archibald Cox be permitted to listen privately to the tapes to determine what portions are needed for the Watergate grand jury investigation.

A spokesman for Cox disclosed Wednesday that White House lawyers and members of the prosecutor's staff had discussed the proposed compromise, but he refused to say whether any agreement had been reached.

Lawyers for President Nixon appeared to take a hard line in defense of withholding the tapes in a legal brief filed Wednesday with the appeals court.

The brief was part of the continuing arguments being given the court and did not directly deal with the suggested compromise. But after citing Nixon's efforts to aid the Watergate investigation, including giving Cox broad powers, the brief said:

"But he has not delegated to the special prosecutor, and will not abrogate, his constitutional duties and prerogatives. That would move beyond accommodation to irresponsibility."

Hours after the court suggested a week ago that Cox, a member of the executive branch of government, be allowed to listen to the tapes as a way of bypassing the constitutional issues raised by the President, the special prosecutor indicated he was ready to follow the proposal.

The appeals court said that if its suggestion was turned down it would then rule on the constitutional issues.

In other Watergate developments: —Former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson took the Fifth Amendment Wednesday in refusing to answer questions in a closed-door session with lawyers from the Senate Watergate committee. Colson has been identified in published reports as a target of a federal grand jury probe of the Ellsberg break-in.

—Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, a member of the committee, urged the White House to say immediately whether Nixon's brother, Donald, was wiretapped by the Secret Service. He said the Treasury Department, parent agency of the service, had declined to confirm or deny a report of the wiretapping published by the The Washington Post.

See Split Forming In Chile Junta

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence analysts say there are signs of a possible split between members of Chile's new military junta over the question of returning that country's government to civilians.

Reports picture Air Force Brig. Gen. Gustavo Leigh Guzman, who has conservative political affiliations, as wanting the Chilean military to keep power indefinitely and to revamp the country's constitution.

Sources said this would clash with the position of the junta president, Army Gen. Augusto Pinochet Ugarte, who is aligned with the more liberal Christian Democratic party.

There were no indications, in intelligence analyses circulated among U.S. officials, of where the other two members of the junta stand on continued military control versus handing back the reign to civilians after all resistance to the recent coup has been quelled.

The other two members are Adm. Jose T. Merino Castro and Col. Cesar Mendoza Frank, police chief.

Analysts expect the issue to be resolved soon because the military group still has not consolidated its position after ousting Marxist president Salvador Allende on Sept. 11.

That military coup shattered a 42-year-old tradition of political neutrality by Chile's armed forces.

Throughout Allende's three-year presidency, Chilean military officers kept close links with U.S. military men.

The main concern of American officers was that the leftist Chilean government might accept large shipments of Russian arms.

Late last year, according to U.S. intelligence, the Soviet Union offered Chile $50 million in low-interest credits to buy jet fighters and other military hardware.

But Chilean military officers resisted any military aid from Communist countries, preferring American weapons and ties with the United States.

Sources said that shortly before the coup, Pinochet urged the Americans to speed delivery of M60 tanks to keep Allende from buying medium T54 tanks from Russia.

After lobbying by American officers on the Interamerican Defense Board, it was reported that the White House approved $10 million in arms credits for Chile even though the Treasury was said to have objected on grounds that Chile was a poor credit risk.

5 Survivors Struggle

DENVER (AP) — The five surviving Stanek sextuplets have passed through what their doctors termed "the most critical time in their lives." But the babies' struggle is not over.

As the infants lived through their 72nd hour late Wednesday, the youngest — Catherine and Nathan — were reported in poor but improving condition.

Steven and Jeffrey were reported in fair condition. John, the only sextuplet born without the aid of Caesarian section, was reported in good condition.

Julia, the smallest of the babies, died Tuesday night of hyaline membrane disease. Nathan, Catherine and Steven were suffering symptoms of the same lung illness.

The babies born Sunday night were about six weeks premature.

Doctors say John and Jeffrey were the first of the infants to receive milk from their mother, 34-year-old Edna Stanek. Jeffrey, however, was reported unable to retain most of it.

Dr. Darrell Miller, a pediatrician, said John is doing "very well and is taking about two tablespoons of mothers milk at every feeding."

He said Jeffrey faced antibiotic treatment because of an infection in the child's navel area.

Miller said "the prognosis for all five — any baby this size — must be guarded. The longer they survive the better their chances are," Miller added.

Dampen Reports Agnew To Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's office are trying to dampen press reports of a growing breach between President Nixon and Agnew that could lead to the latter's resignation.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren strongly denied on Wednesday that Nixon was applying pressure on Agnew to quit because of his involvement in a federal investigation of alleged political corruption in Maryland.

A special federal grand jury probing the allegations was scheduled to resume work today in Baltimore.

He said there was no "disposition by the White House or the people in the White House to force the resignation of the vice president, or that the White House is exerting pressure on the vice president to resign."

Warren also denied that the White House, as has been widely reported, was the fountainhead for reports that Agnew was contemplating resigning.

Following the bland "no comment" reaction of the previous day, Warren's disclaimer was welcomed in the Agnew camp, where there has been dismay, sometimes to the point of anger, over the White House's public response to the vice president's crisis.

Some Agnew backers contended that a policy of near-silence and only qualified support for him is designed to build pressure to force his resignation — or at least to distract attention from Watergate.

A spokesman for Agnew acknowledged on Wednesday that some individuals at the White House might be encouraging speculation about a resignation but said he couldn't believe it was being done as a matter of Nixon policy.

"Under no circumstances do we regard it as a conscious concoction of anybody in the White House," said Agnew's press secretary, J. Marsh Thomson. He added that "this takes into account the things that are being said by some of Agnew's quote, friends, unquote."

Sheriff Solves Burglary

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said Wednesday his department has solved the burglary at Columbus Industries near Ashville which occurred January 8.

Checks, check writer, cash and tools valued at $442 were taken from the Ashville plant during the burglary.

Sheriff Radcliff said 22 checks were forged in July, worth $3,000, with one of those checks ending up in Pickaway County.

Walter Wood, 46 Rogers Street, Columbus, was arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff's authorities for uttering and publishing a forged check at the Darby Tavern.

Sheriff Radcliff said Wood stated he had no connection with the January theft and Radcliff says it's quite evident Wood didn't have any knowledge of the robbery. However, the sheriff said he has been able to uncover substantial leads in the case.

Brezhnev Calls For Renewed Efforts At Security Meeting

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev called Wednesday for renewed East-West efforts to make the European security conference a success. He warned against attempts by "diplomatic barter" to gain concessions from the Soviet Union.

Speaking in Sofia, Bulgaria, the secretary-general of the Soviet Communist party accused the West of "ill-meaning propaganda campaigns intended to sow mistrust in the policy of the U.S.S.R. and other socialist states."

"It is difficult to shake off the impression that all this is being done with the sole aim of hampering by all means the success of the big undertaking that has been started and that is so necessary for the peoples."

As reported by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, Brezhnev related these comments only to the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe, which went into the agreement-writing stage in Geneva this week. But some observers felt that he also was addressing his words to circles in the United States who demand that trade concessions be denied the Soviet government until it lifts its restrictions on Jewish emigration and eases its handling of dissident citizens.

"There can and must be set up a new system of international relations, based on honest and consistent observance of the principles of sovereignty, noninterference in internal affairs, strict implementation of treaties and agreements that have been concluded, without any doubledealing and am-

Eye U.S. 30 Location

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A public hearing is scheduled Oct. 12 in Lima to discuss the proposed location of U. S. 30 in northcentral Ohio.

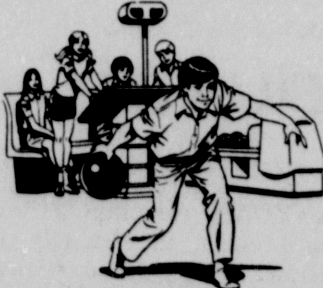

The Ohio Department of Transportation has proposed making U.S. 30 North the new U. S. 30.

U. S. 30 South would be designated Ohio 309.

The newly-designated U. S. 30 will be upgraded and widened, department officials said.

The northern route runs from Mansfield through Bucyrus and Upper Sandusky to Delphos. The southern route goes from Mansfield through Marion, Kenton and Lima to Delphos.

The two routes were created in the 1920s at the request of businessmen along the southern route who did not want the northern route to become the main federal highway.

Later-Day Village Smithy Preserving Age-Old Trade

WYMER, W. Va. (AP) — The mountain valley echoes daily with the rhythmic ringing of a hammer striking an anvil as college graduate Michael Snyder practices an age-old trade that has become his life work.

The stocky, smoke-blackened smith, just 34 years old, uses only his anvil, coal-fired forge and a few hand tools to practice a craft that threatened to die in the mountains with the few remaining veterans.

Modern smiths use power tools and acetylene torches in their work, even to reproduce old hand-wrought ironwork. But the only concessions to the age of power tools in Snyder's farmyard shop are a light bulb and a radio.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Victim In Love Triangle

DEAR ABBY: Elmer and I were happily married for two years when we had a baby boy. All of a sudden Elmer up and left me and the baby for another woman. She had four kids. Elmer wanted her but not her kids, so she gave them to her sister.

I was heartbroken at first, then I met a guy named Danny who treated me wonderfully. I let him move in with me because I'm afraid to sleep alone and that's the truth. Meanwhile, I still loved Elmer. When Elmer heard about me and Danny he left his girl friend (who he got pregnant in the meantime,) and he begged me to take him back.

Now Danny is living with me, and Elmer is sleeping in the basement. I'm expecting Danny's baby, but I'm still married to Elmer. Elmer's girl friend just had a baby which she named Elmer. (How is that for nerve?)

Danny wants to marry me, but Elmer won't give me a divorce. I love Elmer, but I also love Danny, and I sure wish you would help me figure some way out of this mess.

ALL MESSED UP

DEAR MESSED: Danny appears to be much better husband material than Elmer, although Elmer is still your legal husband. Only you can decide which one you want. Get Danny out of your bedroom and get Elmer out of your basement while you try to think with a clear mind. If you want to divorce Elmer you won't have any trouble finding grounds.

DEAR ABBY: The plight of Miss "Stuck" who was conned out of $1,000 (no receipt) by a boyfriend, and was advised by three attorneys not to sue for the debt, prompts me to write this.

The fact that three (or 300) attorneys declined to handle her case doesn't matter. She probably didn't consult a "collection attorney," which is what she should have done.

I suggest she contact her County Bar Association, which would refer her to an attorney specializing in collection. If she lets the matter drop, she is giving up the following excellent chances of recovery:

1. Statistics prove that about one-fifth of debtors pay up when they receive a letter from an attorney.
2. About 50 per cent or more pay when they are served with a summons.

Much of Snyder's wrought iron trade has been in functional tourist items — trivets, fireplace sets, candle holders, dinner gongs and wall brackets and hooks for displaying other craftsmen's wares.

He starts with plain iron or mild steel stock, heating it in the blazing forge until it glows red-hot, then cutting it roughly to shape on the anvil.

Then it's laboriously reheated and rehammered, again and again, until it reaches its final shape. Even welding is done by hand, heating two pieces of metal and hammering them until they fuse.

He also is involved in the restoration of West Virginia's historic log cabins, handmaking authentic door hinges, door latches, fireplace fittings and even the old hand-forged nails. So far he has worked on private cabins and was a consultant on a restoration project at a state park.

Snyder's work is relatively expensive, but he said he doesn't want to "cater exclusively to the rich."

"I want ordinary people to be able to afford it," he said.

He was the first member of his family to go to college — his father was a coal miner and his grandfather and great-grandfather were blacksmiths near Monongah, W. Va.

But after college, he said, he drifted from one job to another, editing a state travel magazine, working in a New York public relations firm, reporting for a Charleston newspaper and spending time in Colorado as a ski bum.

"I tried everything. I didn't realize it, but I'm more suited to working with my hands," he said.

"I'm proud of the way I make a living," he added, even though it isn't lucrative.

"I get satisfaction knowing I can make something for someone that isn't going to wear out in their lifetime ... something people will use."

He was between jobs in 1971 when Don Page, director of the state Arts and Crafts Division, asked him if he'd like to go to a blacksmithing school at Santa Fe, N.M.

The tuition was paid by a state crafts

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) I've been awarded a scholarship to graduate school. I haven't decided yet whether I want to stay in school to get a degree or just to take some courses I'm interested in. Will it make any difference from a tax standpoint whether or not I'm a degree candidate?

(A.) Yes. If you are a degree candidate, there is no limitation on the amount of scholarship or fellowship grant that may be excluded from your income. On the other hand, if you are not a degree candidate, the amount you receive as a scholarship or fellowship, including the value of services and accommodations provided to you, may be excluded from your income only up to $300 times the number of months for which you receive amounts under the grant during the tax year. There is a 36 month limit under the exclusion for non-degree students.

(Q.) Do you have a booklet that explains what a taxpayer's rights are in case he's ever audited by the Internal Revenue Service?

(A.) Yes. Write your nearest IRS office for a free copy of IRS Publication 556 "Audit of Returns Appeal Rights and Claims for Refund."

(Q.) I work as a waitress in a restaurant. Any tips I get I have to split with the busboy. How much of the tips do I have to report to my boss for purposes of income and social security tax withholdings?

(A.) Only those tips you receive on your own behalf are counted. Thus, where employees split tips, each employee reports only his share to his employer when his monthly tip income is $20 or more.

(Q.) I earned over $2,500 from my summer job before I went back to school. Will this cause my parents to lose my dependency exemption?

(A.) No. If you are a full-time student for any part of five months of the year or under 19 at the end of the year, your parents can claim you as a dependent regardless of how much money you make. Of course, they must meet all the other dependency tests, including the furnishing of more than one-half of your total support.

A Page Of Opinion

Smallpox Eradicated

It was a long, hard fight, but medical science has won another victory. Smallpox has been declared officially dead in the Western Hemisphere. Brazil, where the disease was still prevalent a few years ago, has been declared free of the disease by a five-man commission.

Brazil was the last holdout in the hemisphere against the efforts to conquer smallpox. Two decades ago there were thousands of cases annually in some of the less developed countries. Dr. Leo Morris of the National Center for Disease Control in Atlanta was sent to Brazil in 1965 to help officials develop a mass immunization program. More than 81 million vaccinations were given.

Catholic Plus And Minus

By JEFFREY HART

I take it as axiomatic that even non-Catholics, if they are consciously concerned with the fate of the West, keep a solicitous eye on the fortunes of the Roman Catholic Church, after all, it has for millennia been one of the principal institutions of Western civilization, inextricably involved with the development of our attitudes and values.

For some years now the signs have been decidedly mixed, at best. Like other Western institutions, the church went through a feverish phase during the decade of the 1960s. Many even foresaw demise, apocalypse, "bare ruined choirs." Like most apocalyptic visions (a racial "second civil war," etc.) this one turns out to have been rather silly. In an imperfect world, a couple of current soundings:

1) About ten years ago, the key word was "secular," as in Harvey Cox's fashionable book, "The Secular City." Man had "come of age," Dietrich Bonhoeffer and his admirers argued. (Bonhoeffer was a Protestant German theologian executed by the Nazis.) The West was traveling in a straight-line course to complete secularization.

It is possible that this outline is correct in a very long-run sense, but the empirical data do not confirm it. In Italy, for example, a recent poll shows that one-third of the population attends Mass regularly, and not only that, but among youth (up to age 24) attendance is much higher than in the 24-to-34 age group. Though the conclusion must be tentative, it looks as if the 1960s generated greater religious indifference than either the 1950s or the 1970s.

The poll contains other interesting statistics. An additional one-third of the population attends Mass now and then. Attendance is much higher in the industrial and modern North than in the South, which in itself is ground for reflection. Attendance also increases as you go up the educational and socio-economic scale. Put that in your Secular City and smoke it.

2) Recently I reported on an impending Danish porn film called "The Love Life of Jesus Christ," in which Jesus engages in group sex, appears as a Black Panther, and so forth. We have been conditioned to suppose that nothing much can be done about this sort of thing, that just as secularism is the wave of the future, so too we are headed for pornotopia. Well, maybe not.

The film was to be shot in the south of France, but thousands of protests and a blast from Pope Paul ("an ignoble and blasphemous outrage") led the French to refuse the Danes permission to work on the film. The Danish Culture Minister, one Niels Matthiesen, fulminated with comic indignation, calling the Roman Catholic Church "reactionary," and so forth, which tells us a good deal about the character of the ministry of culture in "progressive" Denmark, which is putting up money for the film.

3) I wonder, however, whether something cannot be done to improve the tone and substance of the local Catholic press. It is often even impossible to respect some of the things that appear there. Item: I recently reflected wryly on the secret marriage of Philip Berrigan and Elizabeth McAllister, a priest and a nun. In their anti-war witness, they had hardly claimed to possess strategic analysis superior to that of Nixon and Kissinger; and they did not claim to possess superior sources of information. They claimed superior moral status and higher moral insight. And here they were, living a lie, deceiving the public. I noted the anomaly.

To a staff columnist for the Boston Pilot, however, the fact that a priest and nun "up and married" in this fashion is a "routine" news item "in this postconciliar age." In his view, anyone taking note of this betrayal of vows and this conscious deception must have a "sex hangup syndrome" that "still haunts the Church." The Berrigan-McAllister secret marriage he wrote, is merely "their problem," purely personal.

But vows and sacraments are not merely private things. They entail public and communal engagements and responsibilities.

Too often the local Catholic press, evidently still woozy from the mind-blown 60s, lets this kind of thing pass for serious analysis.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks an office manager gets tired of hearing: "The less real authority a man has, the more it goes to his head."

"The only day Pete gets to work on time himself is Mondays, just so he can report half the office is late."

"Pete likes to think of himself as a straw boss, but he's really only a straw dummy."

"Yeah, he has the title of office manager. But all that means is that he was a promising office boy 40 years ago who managed to work his way to the bottom."

"If he kept his brain as busy as he does his hands when he is near one of the girls, he'd have been president of the firm a long time ago."

"Pete, will you write me out a requisition for a new pencil? I've had this one for two years, and it's beginning to show a little wear and tear."

"Well, after 40 years here, Pete, do you still have much hope of being made a junior executive?"

"One of his duties is to give intelligence tests to new applicants. But somebody in the personnel department has to grade the papers, because Pete himself can't understand the questions, let alone tell the right answers."

"The big moment of Pete's year is when the boss drops by the office Christmas party, and Pete gets to yell out, 'All right, kids, how about three cheers and a tiger for the fine fellow who pays the bills — and let's make them real loud and clear!'"

"He's a terror in the office, but I hear that at home his wife makes him serve her breakfast in bed and do all the dishes."

"By ordering smaller paper towels for the office washrooms, Pete has saved enough money since January to buy the executive vice president a dozen boxes of golf balls."

"The only real reason the big shots keep Pete around is so that he can tell them what the rest of the staff is saying about them behind their backs."

"What are you going to do when you retire, Pete? Have you thought of starting a second career by becoming a shepherd?"

Heath Seeks To Dampen Irish Political Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath tried to dampen a new political crisis in Northern Ireland Tuesday night by backing off from his earlier warning that the British government would strip the province of its autonomy if its Protestant and Roman Catholic politicians cannot get together.

Heath this time said integration of the province into the United Kingdom was a possibility and not a desirable one at that. He appealed to the warring factions in Northern Ireland to "live and work together and be responsible for the peaceful management of their affairs."

The prime minister had warned in radio and television interviews earlier Tuesday that the British government would make its direct rule of Northern Ireland permanent unless the new provincial assembly sets up a workable Protestant-Catholic coalition government by March 30.

Heath's unexpected threat aroused consternation and anger in the province and in the Irish Republic.

The Irish Republican Army's

Provisional wing, whose guerrillas are battling to throw the British out of Northern Ireland, warned that it would bring "ruin, devastation and suffering" to England if Heath carried out his threat of integration.

Circleville's weather station recorded a high reading of 103 degrees, one of the hottest Sept. 1 readings in local history. It marked the fifth straight day that the county had been smothered in 100 degree plus temperatures—And that was in the shade.

Assured an overwhelming majority of the affected property owners were willing to come into the corporation, City Council gave new impetus to Circleville's annexation drive by lifting restrictions on outside-city sewer taps. The action came as a response to an appeal by Chairman Bob Adkins of the city planning and zoning commission.

The DuPont Company's new plant in Circleville for manufacture of "Mylar" polyester film was approaching 25 per cent completion and was expected to start operations by the latter part of 1954. The announcement was made by Emory F. Ridlon, plant manager, who arrived in Circleville to take up permanent residence.

James Stewart, Janet Leigh, Robert Ryan and Ralph Meeker in "The Naked Spur" and Jon Hall in "Eyes of the Jungle" comprised the twinbill at the Cliftona Theatre.

City Safety Director C.O. Leist told the municipal lawmakers that a delay would be necessary in plans to have city prisoners "boarded" in Pickaway County jail.

It is possible to tell how hot or cold it is by listening to the snowy tree cricket—count the number of cricket chirps in 15 seconds, add 40, and that's the temperature in Fahrenheit degrees, accurate to within a degree or two.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Are there any new treatments for bursitis? I have constant pain in my shoulder whenever I awake in the morning.

About three times a year, I get an attack of bursitis that incapacitates me for a week.

Mr. NMN., Ind.

Dear Mr. N.:

Only people who have suffered from bursitis can appreciate the misery you have.

To understand how bursitis should be treated, a better knowledge of the anatomy is essential.

A bursa is a small sac that lies in many joints of the body. They act as ballbearings to lubricate the joints and make them move more easily and freely.

Bursitis is an infection, or inflammation, of the bursa. The fluid within the bursa may develop mineral deposits that make all motion extremely painful.

Injury, exposure to cold and infection, and some arthritic conditions may be responsible for chronic bursitis.

More and more attention is now being paid to the possibility that undiscovered or unrecognized gout may cause some cases of bursitis.

Uric acid stones can be deposited in the bursa and cause the swelling that is so painful with every movement of the arm.

Uric acid stones, unlike calcium stones, cannot be seen by X-ray. For this reason gout is given more and more consideration as an underlying cause of bursitis. Cortisone, X-ray radiation, and ultrasonic vibrations have been successfully used in selected cases.

If gout is found to be a responsible factor, by a study of uric acid in the blood, treatment is very effective with the excellent new drugs now available.

I would like to add a special word of caution to those people who try to "work out" bouts of bursitis. Exercise, massage and bone manipulation can be extremely hazardous and may even cause permanent irreversible changes within the joint.

The cause of your bursitis must be pursued until it is found, if the proper treatment is to be instituted.

A bronchial cyst was just found in my neck. Surgery was advised, but I would rather avoid it.

Can these cysts become cancerous?

Mrs. A.U., Ill.

Dear Mrs. U.:

From your story I assume you are referring to a "branchial" cyst, rather than a "bronchial" problem, which concerns the lung.

A branchial cyst occurs during the development of an unborn child.

Sometimes, in the adult it flares up, accumulates fluids and forms a cyst which becomes evident as an enlargement in the neck.

These cysts do not become cancerous. They are removed for cosmetic purposes and, more especially, when the cyst becomes large and compresses vital structures in the neck.

The operation is not a complicated one; it is safe and successful.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Now that schools have opened again, everyone is repeating "watch the children on bicycles" "save the child" and there is some kind of a State slogan regarding the motorists "not to kill a kid" or something like that.

Well, I believe we should start a new slogan "watch for the automobile drivers" and "save the motorists". These kids on bicycles are getting to be more of a hazard than all of the cars in the streets.

Last week, while I was coming to work in Circleville, there were two boys on bikes. One was on the right hand side of the street, traveling with the traffic. The other was on the left hand side of the street, traveling against the traffic. The one on the left hand side, was trying to get across the street, and you never saw so much starting across, then seeing a car, he would weave back and forth. He was hazard to traffic and if an auto had struck the child, it would never have been the child's fault. The auto driver would have been the one that would have gotten cited by the law.

This morning, coming north on South Court Street, there was three boys riding bikes on the right hand side of the street, but IN THE WRONG DIRECTION, and taking up a whole lane of traffic. Did they attempt to move over for the cars traveling in the right direction? No indeed, they almost dared you to get close to them.

Here is an article which was published by one of the automobile clubs and if the youngsters would obey them, everyone driving a car, would be happier.

"The bicycle is one of the fastest growing transportation methods in America today. And recently, it has become a noticeable part of highway traffic and a concern in highway safety."

"The burgeoning of bicycles on Ohio Streets and roads has brought with it many problems, not the least of which is the motorist's reluctance to accept the bicycle as a legitimate vehicle instead of as a "toy."

"Safe cycling habits are directly related to auto safety. A good, safe driver can be spotted by the way he drives and the same holds true for bicycle drivers. A bike expert observes all traffic rules the same as the expert driver in auto traffic."

"Things to remember when driving a bicycle in traffic include:

1. Ride with traffic, keeping to the right.
2. Obey all stop signs and traffic lights.
3. Use proper hand signals when changing lanes or making turns.
4. Keep both hands on handle-bars, except when signaling.
5. Keep safe following distance, the same as when driving a car.
6. Yield right of way to pedestrians.
7. Walk bicycles across busy intersections, and remember then to use pedestrian rules for safe walking.
8. Obey all local bicycle regulations."

Have you ever been driving up South Pickaway or South Washington Street, when you are supposed to have the right of way, and see a kid on a bike dart across either of these streets, without stopping for the stop signs on the side streets? It happens every morning and they do not slow down or look either way. Did you ever see them run red lights? They do this of mornings and they never pay any attention to cars going on the streets. Also, when a car is stopped for a red light, a bike rider will go right through the red light. I have seen several do this and I thought one of them was not going to beat the car which was crossing with the green light.

Instead of having slogans and watching the kids on the bikes, I feel that we should have the bike riders to watch out for the motorist and "don't kill the motorist".

I am sure I am not the only car driver who has a gripe about bikes. Isn't there something that can be done? How about enforcing a law that all bike riders must have licenses to drive a bike, the same as to drive a car? Bet that would stop some of them. Also, if more of them were stopped by the law officers or grounded by their parents, this might help.

'Balance' Improving

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's balance of payments was in the red by only $800 million in the second quarter of this year, the smallest quarterly deficit in two and one-half years, the Commerce Department reported today.

Farm Export Income Skyrockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trade experts in the Agriculture Department are predicting U.S. farm exports will go near $20 billion in the current fiscal year ending next June 30, an increase over last year of about 55 per cent.

Grains, such as wheat, corn, and soybeans are expected to continue leading the export surge as they did in 1972-73 when shipments were valued at a record $12.9 billion.

The projected $20 billion export level would arrive at least six years earlier than many USDA analysts believed likely only a few months ago. Last February, in an outlook report, officials predicted farm exports would hit $14 billion in 1985.

Others at the time said privately, however, that U.S. farm exports would move up to $20 billion by 1980. The huge foreign demand, abetted by U.S. dollar devaluations, has overwhelmed practically every projection made six months ago.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, noting in a speech here this week that the $20 billion export level was in sight, said grain sales to Russia and the Peoples Republic of China have provided a "dramatic example" of the rising demand in the world.

"But in terms of the increase in our agricultural exports, sales to these markets played a subordinate role," Butz told the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

"Sales to the Soviets amounted to only 16 per cent of the total increase (last year) in exports," Butz said. "Chinese purchases were even less significant."

The point Butz made was that traditional big buyers of U.S. farm products have been Europe and Japan. Those areas continue to demand more grain, oilseeds and other farm commodities, he said.

Three years ago Japan became the first $1 billion single-country customer of the American farmer. Last fiscal year Japan bought $2.3 billion worth and is continuing to be the single most important market.

Western Europe collectively is the largest regional market, buying $4.5 billion worth of U.S. farm commodities last year, up from $3 billion in 1971-72.

Although officials say they have no breakdowns yet for the current year's markets, they expect Japan and Europe to remain proportionately the big buyers they were in 1972-73.

Athens Woman Wins Suspended Shooting Term

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Mrs. Shirley L. Fichter, 52, of Athens, Ohio, was given a suspended three-year sentence and placed on probation for five years by Judge Eugene F. Cochran in Superior Court Wednesday for assault with a dangerous weapon.

The charge was reduced from assault with intent to murder involving the then Miss Angela Hawkins in an apartment May 20, 1970. The victim, now married to the defendant's former husband, was shot through the head and groin, and lost an eye.

Mrs. Fichter testified in her trial last November that she carried the pistol for self protection. She said that while she and the victim were talking in a hallway, she dropped her purse and the weapon fell from it. She said they scuffled and the weapon was accidentally discharged.

The victim denied this, and called it a deliberate assault.

The longest prison sentence on record was given to two confidence men in Iran in 1960. Together they were sentenced to 7,109 years in jail.

Code Of Ethics Measure Signed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan today signed into law Ohio's first code of ethics bill for public officials, calling it "a landmark effort to restore the faith of the people in their government."

The bill, which becomes effective within 90 days, requires key public officials to file information on their financial holdings and sources of income, but not the amounts.

It is a compromise version of the administration's own ethics proposal, which would have required listing of amounts.

Mother Nature Gets Call For More Bongos

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Zoo and Milwaukee Zoo are hoping to increase the captive population of Bongos, considered the most beautiful antelope.

Ed Maruska, director of the Cincinnati Zoo, said he will send one of his two male Bongos to Milwaukee next Tuesday. Milwaukee has two females and one male but the male is a non-breeder, Maruska said.

There are only 15 of the species on display in zoos around the world. Besides Cincinnati and Milwaukee, the only others on display in the United States are at the National Zoo in Washington and the Glydys Porter Zoo in Brownsville, Texas.

MRS. DOUGLAS EARL FAULK

Miss Sarah Elizabeth Anderson Bride Of Douglas Earl Faulk

Altar vases containing arrangements of bronze mums, peach roses and gladioli and baby's breath adorned the altar of Trinity Lutheran Church in Circleville for the wedding of Miss Sarah Elizabeth Anderson and Mr. Douglas Earl Faulk, 2:30 p.m. Sept. 15th. Pastor Carl G. Zehner officiated the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Anderson, Knollwood Village, Circleville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Faulk, Jerome.

Mrs. Thomas Downing, organist, presented a program of nuptial selections preceding the ceremony.

Dr. and Mrs. Anderson gave their daughter in marriage. The bride selected for her wedding a gown of candlelight crepe maracaine designed with an empire bodice. Pearl embroidery enhanced the circular neckline and the long tapered sleeves. The full circular skirt flowed into a chapel length train. Her cathedral length mantilla of Brussels lace was worn Madonna style and she carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white carnations, peach rosebuds and baby's breath with peach satin streamers.

Mrs. John Anderson, sister-in-law of the bride was matron of honor. She was attired in a blue crepe maracaine gown with a molded bodice and silver braid accented with pearls trimming the waistline and long tapered sleeves.

Bridesmatron was Mrs. Margie Wilson of Columbus. She was gowned as the honor attendant. They both carried bouquets of peach carnations, white daisies and baby's breath with peach ribbon.

Serving as best man was Mr. Tony Trachevski. Ushers were Mr. Robin Lynch, Mr. Larry Dixon and Mr. John Anderson, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Anderson wore a shell pink long gown with an empire waistline and V-neckline accented with lace and pearls.

Mrs. Faulk chose a long aqua gown with long sleeves and a jewel neckline. Both mothers wore corsages of white orchids.

Charcoal Broil That Chuck Roast

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press
Food Editor

You can charcoal-broil a large cut of chuck roast if you sprinkle it with meat tenderizer and then treat the meat to a marinade.

If you're an old hand at charcoal broiling you'll know just how to regulate the fire. If not, you may be interested to know — as we've just discovered — that different brands of charcoal give off varying degrees of heat. To test the temperature of a charcoal briquet fire, cautiously hold your hand, palm side down, just above the grill. This way you can judge the temperature by the number of seconds your hand can be kept in this position. For the chuck roast recipe given below, you should be able to keep your hand in position for four seconds.

To lower the temperature of a charcoal fire, raise the grill or separate the coals. To raise the temperature, tap the outer gray layer from the coals and punch the coals closer together. If more coals are needed, add them to the outer edge of the hot coals.

CHARCOAL-BROILED MEAT—You can use beef chuck roast and treat it to meat tenderizer and a Hawaiian-style marinade.

Push Motorcycle Bill In Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill requiring motorcycles to have their headlights on during daylight hours is expected to come roaring out of a Senate committee early next year.

Temporarily stalled in the Senate Rules Committee when the legislature adjourned, the bill was one of 64 bills pertaining to motor vehicles law put into the General Assembly.

Rep. Joan Douglass, R-61 Mansfield, main sponsor of the bill, says she believes the Motorcycle Dealers Association was able to at least to keep it in committee this year.

"I think it will come out early next year," she said of the bill that passed the House, 77-16, last June 27. It was reported out of the Senate Applied Technology and Local Services Committee July 26.

Mrs. Douglass claimed that 70 per cent of auto-motorcycle accidents come about because the driver of the car doesn't see the cyclist.

A bill effective Nov. 21 will prohibit the use of studded tires on Ohio highways except during the winter months.

As first introduced by Rep. Jerome Stano, D-7 Parma, the bill would have outlawed their use throughout the year. A compromise limited the prohibition to spring, summer and fall.

The tires, under the new law, can be used only between Nov. 15 and March 15, except for school buses and police and emergency vehicles.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

A cold front lying just to the north of Ohio brought a few showers into the state today as it moved southward after a night of cloudy skies.

In the southeastern counties skies were clear, and the mercury dipped to the 40s in contrast to readings generally in the 50s elsewhere.

Early Thursday the cold front extended along the north shore of Lake Erie across the northwest corner of Ohio and into extreme northern Indiana. The front is expected to reach the Ohio River in southeastern Ohio by this evening. High pressure to the northwest of Lake Superior will move eastward across the northern Great Lakes to northern New York state by Friday.

Partial clearing is expected over northern Ohio tonight but the front is not expected to push far enough south to allow clearing over southern Ohio. Meanwhile a new low forming over in the Plains states tonight and Friday is expected to move eastward along the front spreading showers back into western Ohio Friday afternoon or evening.

Prison Lockup Hit By Attorney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Attorneys for the Ohio Prisoners Labor Union said Wednesday that the administrative lock-up of 150 inmates at the Lucasville Penitentiary is a violation of the corrections department's regulations.

The charge came at a small rally in front of the Statehouse attended by about 40 demonstrators representing five prisoner support groups.

OPLU attorney John Quigley said prison regulations require hearings before a prisoner may be put in administrative isolation.

He said the prison administration has locked the inmates in 24-hour confinement since May 24. He also said the administration has invented a new term, "administrative confinement," to keep the men locked up while they await hearings.

The attorneys contend that the lock-up is an attempt to break the OPLU.

Body Is Discovered In Burned-Out Home

FRANKLIN, Ohio (AP) — The body of a 14-year-old girl was found Wednesday by police among the ruins of a burned down home used by the Outlaw motorcycle gang.

Police said they did not yet know the cause of the death of Linda Louise Easterline of Middletown.

Anthony Blake, 23, and Frederick Rudie, 25, both of Middletown, were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

A 15-year-old girl was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Firemen said the fire apparently resulted from attempts to build a fire in a fireplace.

Competition For Playboy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus-based night club chain has announced an agreement with Gallery magazine to extend operations nationwide with plans to compete with the Playboy clubs.

Larry C. Flynt, spokesman for Mini Clubs of America, Inc., said the firm will open clubs in Chicago, St. Louis, Indianapolis and Louisville in the next few months.

Gallery is similar to Playboy magazine.

The Ohio firm operates clubs in Cincinnati, Columbus, Akron, Cleveland, Toledo and Dayton. All are called "Hustler" except for one of two clubs in Dayton, which is known as "Whatever is Right."

Flynt said the clubs will cater to out-of-town businessmen.

organize the union."

Gov. John Gilligan has said that the idea of a prisoner labor union is "an absurdity."

OPLU attorneys have filed suit in federal court at Cincinnati alleging that "cruel and unusual punishment" is being inflicted on the prisoners.

The confinement of the 150 Lucasville inmates was also protested by persons who said they represented prisoner support groups from Dayton and Antioch College, the Prisoners Solidarity Committee, the Prisoners Support Coalition and the '68 Faction.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Do you cringe when your child wants to buy a plastic model knowing inevitably the pieces will get lost? In "Motors and Engines and How They Work" by Harvey Weiss, the author shows a simple little airplane of cardboard, wire and a few odds and ends. It could easily be made by a fourth grader. As the child's interest grows, he may want to advance to a steam turbine engine. A large juice can, some canned heat and very little trouble and a child can have a working model. Scientific principles are conversationally discussed along with each model.

A look at internal combustion engines is provided in "Engines Work Like This" by Edward Dolan. The

Link Cancer And Asbestos

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A person need not be directly connected with the asbestos industry to suffer the effects of asbestos-caused diseases, including cancer, a cancer researcher testified Wednesday.

Dr. Irving Selikoff of the Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York City said "secondhand" exposure to asbestos fibers was linked to lung abnormalities found in 39 per cent of a group of persons who lived with asbestos workers.

Selikoff is the government's chief witness in the Reserve Mining Co. trial in U.S. District Court before Judge Miles Lord.

The Justice Department and other plaintiffs are seeking to halt Reserve's discharge into Lake Superior of taconite tailings from its Silver Bay, Minn., plant. They maintain the discharge contains large amounts of asbestos.

Selikoff said many lung cancer deaths today can be attributed to a close association with asbestos among shipyard workers during World War II. "Asbestos cancer," Selikoff said, usually is recognized 30 to 40 years after initial exposure to the fibers.

illustrator is able to give the reader a simple picture of the mechanical marvels of our age. The engine used in a lawn mower and the multi-cylinder engines found in our cars are drawn with the novice in mind. And, at last, mothers will be able to see what a distributor, rods and pistons look like.

Many of us can't really explain ultraviolet light and infra-red rays to our children. "You and Electronics" by Mary Lou Cloud introduces the study of electronics. A simple diagram shows that radio waves, ultraviolet waves and x-rays are all in the same family. Different are the sound waves that produce SONAR and ultrasonic waves often used in the medical field. The text and accompanying illustrations are simple enough for a fourth grader.

Two books on television show who does the job that brings us our favorite program "Television and How It Works" by Eugene David show the television signal leaving the camera for the control room, passing through the transmitter, and traveling to our homes. It is suitable for third to sixth graders. "Come to Work With Us in a Television Station" by Jean and Noel Wilkinson has a novel approach. Young people are shown in giant color photographs working at grownup jobs. Each job is told about in rhyme and takes a single page. And there is a glossary second and third graders will find simple to use.

Ordinarily, a book entitled "What Makes a Nuclear Power Plant Work" wouldn't hold much interest for a young person. But the graphic drawings so lavishly spread throughout this oversize book are beautiful enough to frame. Any boy will be delighted by these zingy pictures. And, who knows, he may even learn about nuclear power.

Two books not to be missed by boys who like bulldozers and trucks are "The Big Book of Building and Wrecking Machines" by George Zaffo and "Machines For You" by Saunders. Earthscrapers, graders, and compactors rumble through the pages, crushing rocks and pushing over hills in slam bang fashion.

Try the children's room for any of these action books.

Demo Shuns Comment About Agnew Future

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The executive director of the Democratic National Committee said it is "very tough" to comment on charges that the White House is trying to dump Vice President Spiro Agnew.

Bob Keefe said here Wednesday that he spoke with David Broder of The Washington Post, who broke the story, "and he thinks he's got a hard story."

Keefe, here to address the 64th Annual Convention of the Ohio Association of Realtors, said he thinks a defection of Republican legislators has lessened President Nixon's chances of recovering from Watergate.

Keefe said he doesn't think there is "much chance at all for the president to restore his personal credibility."

"And his problem is furthered by the fact that the Republicans are trying to separate themselves from him."

"Sen. Barry Goldwater and others are going on their own, trying to maintain their integrity in light of the problems he has created for them," Keefe said.

He said Democrats do not believe

Demo Panel Under Fire As Unfair

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A top state Democrat says he will ask for reconsideration of a controversial 28-member steering committee on party endorsements for next year's political races.

James Dougherty, a member of the state Democratic Party executive committee, said the committee's makeup violates state and national Democratic party constitutions.

He objected to a resolution approved by the executive committee earlier this week which specified the number of committee members and which groups they would represent, but did not say how they would be selected.

The committee was to consist of 13 party chairmen of the state's most populous counties, 10 representatives of Democratic groups and labor unions and five members of the executive committee.

Dougherty pointed out that none of the members was named, although the county chairmen could be figured out.

"I asked who the rest would be, and they said they hadn't been chosen yet," he said.

U.S. Senate hopeful John Glenn also has objected to the committee's makeup, saying its metropolitan bias favors his probable opponent, Howard Metzenbaum.

Glenn accused Gov. John Gilligan of meeting with the 13 chairmen and deciding to support Metzenbaum's candidacy.

Gilligan has refused comment on the accusation, although he has confirmed he has urged the former astronaut to consider running for the post of lieutenant governor.

that the Watergate scandal will ensure they win elections next year.

"We believe Watergate and its fallout is not going to help us win elections," he said. "It's created a climate we have to use effectively."

Keefe said the climate will be wasted unless Democrats unite.

He said that in coming elections Democrats will use the issues of management, financial ability and law and order against the Republicans. He said these issues in the past were used by the GOP against Democrats.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Joseph Evans of Cincinnati, charged with killing a youth because he thought the boy had walked across his newly-seeded lawn, was found innocent Wednesday by reason of insanity.

The ruling was made in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

Two Injured In Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Robert Hoover investigated two injury accidents on county roads Wednesday afternoon.

Charles Lawrence Ward, 23, Route 4, Circleville, was referred to his doctor for pains in his ankle when he was involved in a single car accident 12:50 p.m. Wednesday.

Ward was driving on Hitler Road when a dog ran across the road into his path. He was unable to miss the dog, though the dog ran into a field and disappeared.

Carole Miller, 30, Route 3, Circleville, received a possible broken nose when she was involved in a two car accident 3:15 p.m. Wednesday on State Route 752.

According to the report taken by Deputy Hoover, another car driven by John M. Brinker, 44, Route 2, Ashville, was traveling east on Route 752 when the incident occurred.

Ms. Miller, driving south on the Circleville-Groveport Road, pulled into the intersection in front of Brinker's auto. Ms. Miller was advised to see a doctor.

Senate Eyes Defense Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warned by President Nixon against "suicidal" major cuts, the Senate begins debate today on a $20.4 billion weapons procurement bill.

The bill, as reported by the Senate Armed Services Committee, is $1.6 billion below administration budget requests.

Administration backers geared up to defend against efforts, likely to extend through the next week, to eliminate or stretch out major weapons systems development and to reduce U.S. forces stationed abroad.

A major battle and a close vote are anticipated on an amendment to slow down production of the Navy's new Trident missile-firing submarine, at a first year saving of $885 million.

The committee itself is recommending a $100 million cut from the $473 million in authorization requested by the Air Force for the B1 bomber.

In a special "state of the union" message to Congress Sept. 10, President Nixon called both the Trident and B1 programs "critical to maintaining a reliable deterrent into the next decade."

Germanys Think War Unlikely

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Both Germanys foreswore war in their first U.N. speeches but differed over unity for Germany and Europe.

Their foreign ministers outlined their governments' policies in speeches Wednesday to the General Assembly, thanking 30 other countries that had congratulated them on their admission to the United Nations the day before.

East Germany's Otto Winzer promised "an active policy of peace," declared that "force should be banned forever from international relations" and said his government had "liquidated the imperialist German Reich which was ... chiefly to blame for two world wars."

Walter Scheel of West Germany told the assembly his country had renounced the use of force.

He said, "No political objective can justify force; no nationalism, no class warfare, no colonial or racial struggles, no utopia, no ideology."

Winzer termed East and West Germany "two sovereign states, independent of each other and with different social systems." He said East Germany would cooperate with all nations for U.N. goals but "in close community with the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and other socialist states."

Scheel said West Germany had hesitated to join the United Nations for fear of heightening the barriers to German reunification.

Speed Wastes

At 75 mph, it takes about eight minutes to travel 10 miles. At 50 mph, it takes 12 minutes to cover the same distance.

Imagine: you break the law, multiply your chances of an accident, run a good risk of killing yourself (as well as a few innocent bystanders) ... and the best you can do is save four minutes.

While you're trying to save those precious minutes, you're also wasting fuel. And today, fuel is precious, too. It's a problem that may be here to stay. But one you can do something about.

Slow down from 75 to 50 mph and you'll save three gallons of gas out of every 10. Think of it. You'll also save 30% on your cost of fuel. And gain 30 miles for every 100 you travel.

Your new car dealer can tell you other ways to save fuel. Money and cars, too. Cut out those jack-rabbit starts. Drive at steady speeds. Use your air conditioner less. Keep your engine in tune. Choose the grade of gasoline that's meant for your car. And check your tire pressure more often.

It's a fact. Speed wastes our natural resources. Things like fuel. And lives.

Chrysler Workers Vote On Pact For Next 3 Years

DETROIT (AP) — Voting on a new contract covering Chrysler employees began today as the United Auto Workers union urged members to be back on the job Monday.

Approval of the three-year contract by the UAW's 127,500 Chrysler members was expected because union members have never turned down a contract recommended by their leaders.

UAW President Leonard E. Woodcock said only a few local leaders objected to returning to work as soon as the national agreement is approved, even though some locals may still have unresolved contract disputes.

First ballots were to be cast at the UAW local in Windsor, Ont., today but the bulk of the voting occurs Friday and Saturday. Complete returns are not expected before Sunday night.

The UAW's Chrysler Council completed the second step in contract ratification Wednesday by urging union members to adopt it. There were only seven dissenters among the more than 200 council members voting on the endorsement, union officials said.

Major items in the proposed settlement include limiting Chrysler's right to order overtime, retirement on full pension at any age after 30 years of service, and wage increases of three per cent in each of the next three years, plus 12 cents per hour more in the first year.

In a related development, the union reached agreement with Chrysler on Wednesday on a contract proposal covering 10,500 salaried white collar workers. Union voting on that contract also began today.

White collar workers and about 5,000 production workers in Chrysler plants supplying parts for other automakers did not join the strike by 112,000 UAW members that began Friday.

Seek Plane Thief, Cessna At Chardon

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — A Horn Flying School official says a man with red hair and a beard jumped into a $13,000 Cessna Wednesday evening and took off before anyone could stop him.

Federal and local authorities were hunting for the plane thief, who took off at 7:15 p.m. from Chagrin Falls Airport with only enough gas to keep him in the air for 2½ hours.

That could take the red-and-white craft about 200 miles.

The Horn official said the plane's tanks were less than half full when a school employee, Peter Whyman, taxied it to a gas pump for refueling.

The company official gave this account of what followed:

Whyman started to walk away but turned when he heard the engine starting. As the plane started down the runway, Whyman grabbed a strut but fell off.

An instructor, Harold Kinford, jumped into his car, raced the plane down the runway, and pulled in front of the craft.

However, the pilot swerved around Kinford's car and put the plane into the air.

Another plane was sent in pursuit and followed a Cessna to the Cuyahoga County Airport in Richmond Heights but found he had been following the wrong plane.

The pilot of the missing plane was described as shabbily dressed and in his 20s.

Officials said the incident occurred Wednesday at the home of the girl's grandparents near this Braxton County community.

Chile Slowly Returns To Normal

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Lunchtime crowds gaped at the burned-out Moneda presidential palace, workmen plaster over bullet holes in downtown buildings and squads of infantrymen bristling with automatic weapons patrol Santiago in jeeps and trucks.

But a week after the bloody military uprising that ended President Salvador Allende's three-year experiment in socialism, Santiago and the rest of Chile are returning to normal.

Narrow sidewalks are crowded with shoppers. Streets once again are cluttered with red and blue buses. But a curfew at night crimps social life.

"There haven't been any pockets of resistance detected in the last 24 hours," declared government press secretary Frederico Willoughby on Wednesday.

Willoughby said Chile's borders and airports are still closed to all but foreign newsmen and those with special permission to enter or leave the country because the new government is still investigating the thousands of armed leftists from other Latin American countries it charges the Allende regime admitted to the country.

Gen. Oscar Bonilla, the new interior minister, and Education Minister Jose Navarro took 70 newsmen on a tour Wednesday of a shantytown on the edge of Santiago.

The shantytown, one of dozens thrown up on vacant land by poor homeless Chileans, was called Ho Chi Minh Village and was run by a Marxist while Allende was in power. Now it has no name.

The general was accompanied by army bodyguards in green fatigues carrying an assortment of weapons. But a large force of soldiers had raided the village last week and searched every shack for arms.

"They were everywhere," said Juan Aceituno, 20, a resident of the shantytown. "All the camp leaders disappeared with the coup."

In La Legua, a working class district known for years as a breeding ground for criminals, half a dozen working men sat drinking red wine in the late winter sun. Several persons were killed in clashes in the district last week between troops and small groups of leftists. Other leftists died battling troops in nationalized factories near the edge of the district. Security forces dynamited the local Communist party headquarters.

"There are rumors," said a worker with flowing locks, "that people with long hair are going to have to cut it, and women in pants will have to start wearing skirts."

"Well, it's a new government," said a government messenger who had already had his hair cropped.

CHS Tigers Host Bulldogs In Big Battle

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

"We feel that Athens will be the best football team we have met so far and just might be the best on our schedule," Circleville Coach Larry

Cincinnati Reds Move To Dispose Of Giants In Race

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Perhaps it isn't overconfidence, but the Cincinnati Reds ordered six cases of champagne shipped to Candlestick Park for today's game with the San Francisco Giants.

The Reds might eliminate the Giants from National League West contention today. They took a step in that direction with a 5-1 victory Friday night. But they still must dispose of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who are 5½ games behind.

"We can do that in the four-game series at L.A. this weekend," said

Cook stated as the Tiger squad prepared for Friday night's clash with the Bulldogs on the Red and Black turf.

Athens dropped the opening contest to a strong Marietta team, 6-0, and played the powerful Golden Gales of Lancaster to a 14-14 tie last week.

Circleville topped Grove City, 14-13, in the season opener and suffered a 15-1 setback at the hands of the Teays Valley Vikings in the second outing.

"We are ready physically and must

Ryder Cup Begins Today In Scotland

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — No matter how many times the American professional golfers thrash the British in the Ryder Cup, there's a big gamble involved.

"It's a horse race, really," said America's non-playing captain Jackie Burke Jr., as play began today over this testing links where the U.S. players were listed outstanding favorites to win the trophy for the 16th time.

The British Isles players have won only three times and one match was halved.

Billy Casper, who has been winning tournaments every year since 1956, is an acknowledged great putter. He is teamed with Lee Trevino against Brian Barnes and Bernard Gallacher in Thursday's opening match.

In three other Scotch foursomes, where the partners play one ball and strike alternate shots, Tom Wieskopf and J.C. Snead were matched against Ireland's Christy O'Connor and England's Neil Coles.

Many observers thought Britain's greatest firepower was with Tony Jacklin and Peter Oosterhuis, the British golfers best known in the United States.

Their opponents were Tou Graham and Chi Chi Rodriguez who had a best ball eight under Muirfield's par 71 in their last practice.

Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, perhaps the greatest names in modern golf, were paired against England's Maurice Bembridge and Ireland's Eddy Pollard.

Gra-Y Plans Flag Football

The Gra-Y Athletic Clubs are scheduled to start their fall program with seven weeks of flag football beginning Oct. 6.

According to Jim Griffith, Pickaway County Family YMCA program director, the Gra-Y Athletic Clubs are open to all boys in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

JAMES GRIFFITH

Clubs are being organized in the six Circleville elementary schools and five county elementary schools. The 1973-74 program year will include four weeks of gym hockey, beginning Jan. 4, a candy sale beginning Jan. 26, a pass-shoot-dribble contest Feb. 2, the Gra-Y basketball league beginning Feb. 9 and a new field and track program beginning April 4.

In addition to the many athletic events, the club activities include a father-son football game trip to Ohio Wesleyan Oct. 27, a free swim at Chillicothe Oct. 13, a family covered dish dinner and induction Nov. 13, a trip to the Professional Football Hall of Fame at Canton Dec. 1, a swim at the Hilltop YMCA Dec. 7-8, a campout at the Hoover Y Park for all candy salesmen April 16-17 and the annual Gra-Y awards banquet May 15.

This year's eleven clubs will be under the leadership of Hemlon (Rich) Ritchie, a former Circleville Bible College student, Griffith said.

Boys interested in the athletic program can attend the organizational meeting at their schools according to the following schedule:

Corwin, Sept. 21; Monroe, Sept. 24; South Court, Sept. 25; Pickaway, Sept. 26; Jackson, Sept. 27; Washington, Sept. 28; Ashville Sept. 28. High, Nicholas, Atwater and Mound schools have already held organization meetings.

According to the program director any county school interested in organizing a Gra-Y Club can contact him at the YMCA.

be mentally prepared if we are going to be successful against the Bulldogs," Cook said. "The key to the game will be our success in keeping them from controlling the football. We must get the ball and run more offensive plays than we were able to do in our first two games. We will have to get the ball with good field position and sustain some offensive drives," Cook commented.

Athens will operate from a full house T and pro formation with a split end and flanker. A ball control team, the Bulldogs like to stay on the ground with their strong fullback, Brent Hawk, 5-foot-11, 188-pound, eating up yardage.

But they have a fine throwing quarterback in Don Skinner, 6-foot-3, 183-pound, who can go to the air and is quite effective with the long bomb. He will go with screens, play action and sprint-out passes. They have good size

Willie Mays Announces Retirement

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays, whose all-around playing ability earned him legendary status despite being hampered by numerous injuries, says good bye to baseball today.

Mays' retirement as an active player was to be announced at an 11:30 a.m., EDT, news conference at Shea Stadium.

"I love pressure because it doesn't bother me," Mays once said, adding: "I love to be in a situation where I know I have to get a hit."

That more or less sums up the philosophy of Mays, baseball's beloved "Say Hey" kid for nearly a quarter-century.

Now 42, Mays was hobbled by injuries this year, after playing out the 1972 season despite an injured left knee that required cortisone treatments and a gimpy right knee that gave him trouble.

This season was the first time in his 22-year career that Mays had been placed on the disabled list. He injured his right shoulder May 14 while making a throw against the Houston Astros and spent 15 days on the disabled list.

He received $165,000 a year from the Mets, who are obliged to pay him $50,000 annually until he reaches 50 whether he plays or not.

B. C. Open Under Way In New York

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Howie Johnson says he hopes the B.C. Open would be his last golf tournament, "but I know it won't." He was thinking of his family.

Johnson, at 48 and in his 18th year as a professional golfer, said, "I've got to keep going. I have a family to support."

The Palm Springs, Calif. native will be playing for his family, which includes three teenaged sons when the $100,000 Professional Golfers Association event starts today.

The B.C., a satellite event a year ago and now a regular stop on the PGA tour, attracted 147 golfers. Many of the top money winners, such as Bruce Crampton, Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, and Jack Nicklaus are missing from competition.

Johnson has won only $12,620 this year but in his heyday his earnings were considerably higher, especially at the end of the 1950s and the start of the 60s.

In 1958, Johnson defeated Arnold Palmer in an 18-hole playoff to win the Azalea Open. He captured the Baton Rouge in 1959 and a year later won the Mexican Open.

Native Dancer won 20 of 21 races. His son, Raise a Native, won all four of his races and Raise a Native's son, Majestic Prince, won nine of 10 races.

in both the offensive and defensive lines and have better than average overall team speed.

The Bulldogs will employ a 5-2 with straight zone secondary on defense and move into a 6-5 for goal line stands. They are hard hitting and pursue the ball well on defense.

The Bulldogs offensive lineup will be: Alan Olsen, 6-foot, 163-pound, and Terry Hawk, 5-foot-10, 160-pound, at the ends; Dave Creuell, 6-foot, 190-pound, and Jim Strekal, 5-7, 188-pound, tackles; Tim Gagle, 5-foot-7, 170-pound, and Jay Graham, 5-foot-10, 180-pound, guards; Keith Chapman, 6-foot, 172-pound, center; Skinner, quarterback; Hawk, fullback; Todd Elwood, 5-foot-9, 140-pound, tailback; Jerry Cunningham, 5-foot-9, 146-pound, wingback. Both Cunningham and Elwood are quick with good speed.

Reggie Radcliff and John Ankrom will again captain the Tigers with Eddy Richter being named by the coaches as the third captain.

The Red and Black coaching staff selected Perry Hoskins as the Tiger of the week for his passing and poise under pressure in the Teays Valley game. A defensive Tiger of the week was not named as the coaches felt no one earned it.

This has to be a big one for the Tigers as the outcome will either put them on the winning side of the ledger or throw them into the losing column.

But Tiger teams have always had the ability to pull themselves up by the tail and roar when the chips were down and Athens could be in for a surprise Friday night. Circleville is a finely conditioned ball club, with pride, and it could show up Friday night against the Bulldogs.

The defensive unit will be: Jim Cordle, middle guard; Scott Bowman and Keith Davis, tackles; Rock Davis, Tiger end; Dale Imler, standup end; Reggie Radcliff, left inside linebacker; Jim Payne or Jeff See, right inside linebacker; Richter, Tiger man; Alan Underwood, 5-yard halfback; Ankrom, middle safety; Hoskins, strong safety.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home. (Not the grapefruit diet!)

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $3.00 ($3.25 for Rush Service) - cash is O.K. - to: NOR-CAL Products, P.O. Box 894, Cupertino, CA. 95014. Don't order unless you want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do.

Mets Bomb Pittsburgh, 7-3

By HOWARD SMITH
Associated Press Sports Writer
The whole town's talking about the Jones boy and the Jones boy wishes they'd cut it out.

"No one likes to be talked about," says New York Mets outfielder Cleon Jones, "and they were certainly talking about me. But I feel like a winner tonight."

Jones looked like a winner too Wednesday night, belting two home runs to lead the Mets past the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3 and into the thick of the National League East Division race. New York shares third place with St. Louis, both clubs just 1½ games behind the front-running Pirates. Second-place Montreal is one game back and even fifth-place Chicago is still alive, just four games off the pace.

The Cardinals dropped a 3-2 decision to Philadelphia, the Expos were beaten 8-6 by the Cubs, Los Angeles dumped Atlanta 4-1, Cincinnati topped San Francisco 5-1 and Houston split a pair with San Diego, the Astros winning 8-5 and losing 6-3, in other National League action.

Cubs 8, Expos 6
The Expos staggered Chicago starter Rick Reuschel with five runs in the first inning but couldn't hold the lead. Reuschel survived the outburst and picked up his 14th victory with relief help from Mike Paul in the sixth and Bob Locker in the ninth.

Phillies 3, Cardinals 2
Philly ace Steve Carlton, a 27-game winner last season, was happier about avoiding his 20th loss than picking up his 12th win.

"It was difficult to get it out of my mind that I was going for my 20th defeat," said Carlton, "well, not going for it, you know what I mean. I was vulnerable."

Carlton helped his own cause by singling in the fifth and scoring on a wild pitch by Tom Murphy. Del Unser's single later in the inning drove in the winning run.

Reds 5, Giants 1
Fred Norman stopped San Francisco on just two base hits to square his record at 12-12 and reduce Cincinnati's magic number for clinching the National League West to five.

Dodgers 4, Braves 1
The Dodgers picked up all their runs in the eighth, two of them on a single by Ron Cey and another on a single by Willie Davis. Andy Messersmith earned his 14th win against 10 losses.

Dave Johnson got the Atlanta run with his 43rd home run of the season, breaking the record for most homers in one year set in 1922 by Rogers Hornsby.

Astros 8-3 Padres 5-6
Rich Troedson fired an eight-hitter in the nightcap for the Padres after the Astros won the opener on the strength of two-run doubles by Dave Campbell and Cliff Johnson.

White Is Sidelined

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Bengal right end Sherman White was sidelined with shoulder bruises Wednesday during practice, but Coach Paul Brown said the injury wasn't "drastic."

Ken Johnson was moved into the position held two years by White, a 1972 first draft choice from the University of California.

Ryan, Angels Top Rangers

By FRANK BROWN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Nolan Ryan isn't satisfied.
He registered his 19th victory of the season Wednesday night, struck out seven batters to come within 28 of breaking the major league record, and pitched a five-hitter for his 24th complete game this year in California's 6-2 triumph over the Texas Rangers in the opener of a two-night double-header.

...But he isn't satisfied.
"If I break the strikeout record and don't win 20 games, I'll be disappointed," said Ryan, who broke Rube Waddell's American League record for strikeouts in the third-inning. He fanned designated hitter Bill Sudakis on a low fastball for strikeout number 350—one more than the mark Waddell established with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1904.

In other American League games Wednesday, the Angels took the nightcap of the twinbill 9-4; the Boston Red Sox tripped the New York Yankees 3-1; the Oakland A's edged the Minnesota Twins 3-0; the Milwaukee Brewers clipped the Cleveland Indians 7-4; the Detroit Tigers bombed the Baltimore Orioles 10-1, and the Chicago White Sox nipped the Kansas City Royals 4-3 in 12 innings.

Red Sox 3, Yankees 1
It was a good night for Boston's Luis Tiant. "I threw good pitches, had good control, a good fastball, and good breaking pitches," Tiant said. The combination was good for a 3-1 triumph over the New Yorkers. Tiant struck out 10 and walked none to pick up his 19th victory of the season and 21st complete game.

A's 3, Twins 0
Vida Blue helped whittle down to three the A's "magic number" with his 19th victory of the season—a three-hit, 3-0 shutout over Minnesota. Any combination of Oakland victories and Kansas City defeats would bring the A's their third consecutive Western division title.

Tigers 10, Orioles 1
Aurelio Rodriguez lined a bases-loaded triple to score three runs and highlight a seven-run Detroit fifth inning as the Tigers blasted the pennant-bound Orioles 10-1.

White Sox 4, Royals 3
Buddy Bradford's 12th-inning single scored Carlos May with the running run in Chicago's 4-3 decision over Kansas City. May had doubled to lead off the inning, moved or Jorge Orta's infield single before Bradford drove him in to win the game for Cy Acosta.

Brewers 7, Indians 4
George Scott drove in four runs, three in the seventh inning with his 21st home run of the year, to power the Brewers to a 7-4 victory over the Indians.

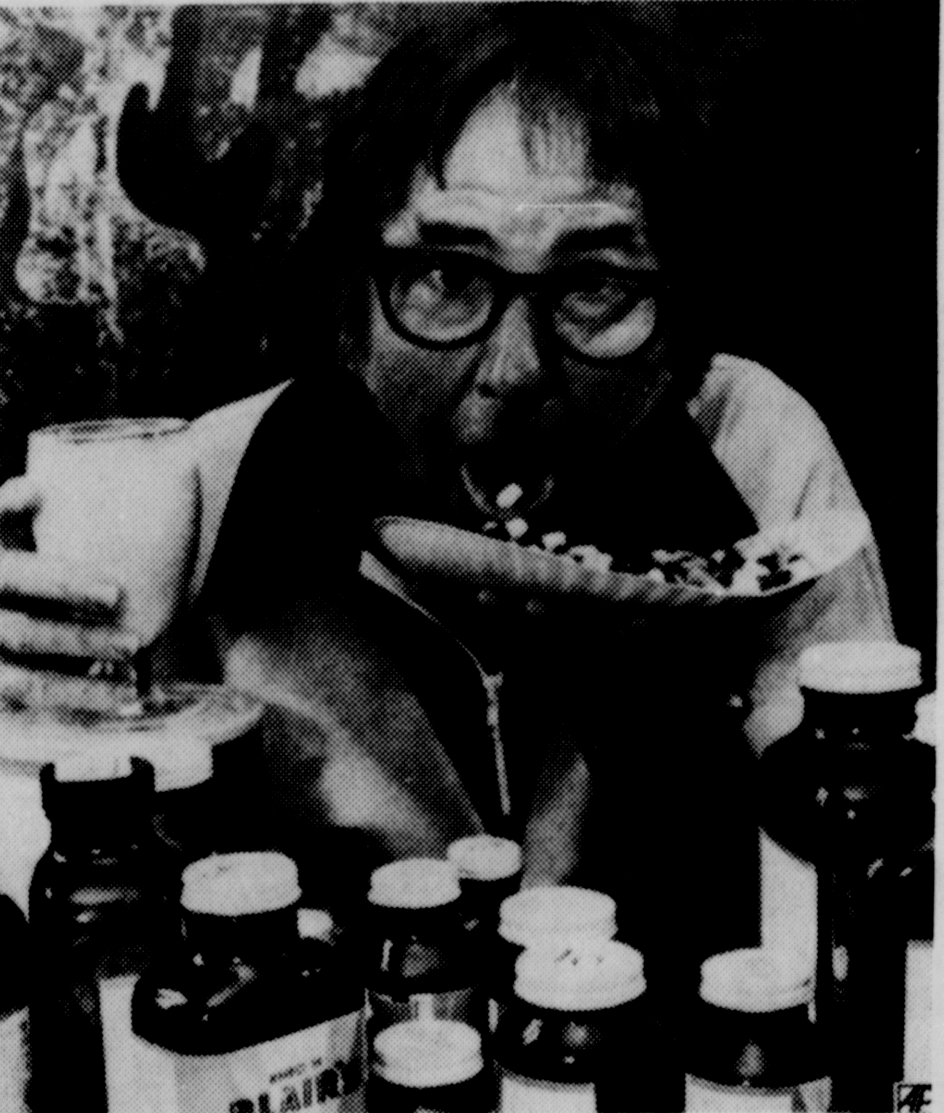

Archie Griffin Named Top Big Ten Back

CHICAGO (AP) — Archie Griffin, Ohio State's super sophomore half-back, has been named the Big Ten back of the week by The Associated Press.

Griffin, who won the honor last year as a freshman, had another big day Saturday in Ohio State's 56-7 victory over Minnesota.

Griffin 5-9 and 184 pounds, gained 129 yards rushing and had 120 return yards including a 93-yard touchdown run on a kickoff which put the third ranked Buckeyes ahead 21-7.

King-Riggs Match Scheduled Tonight

PILLS BY THE PLATE—Bobby Riggs takes nutriment as part of his training program for his match with Billie Jean King. Riggs takes about 415 pills a day and according to him the nutriment don't just give you strength, but sharpen the mind.

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer
Is Riggs rigged for victory or will Billie Jean be the King — er, Queen? Who knows? But plenty of people — from women's liberation activists to the racquet-swinging vice president — will watch the tennis battle of the sexes tonight to find out.

"As a tennis bug, I'm looking forward to the match and subsequent Riggs' victory party," said Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., who'll be giving a dinner party tonight for his staff. "As a politician I've already said too much."

President Nixon's press office said it doubted the President would be watching the match or that he would care to comment on the matter.

But Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, a tennis player remembered for some rather spectacular forehands, "will almost certainly be watching the game, but he is not prepared to go out on a limb with predictions of the results" aides said.

At stake in the Houston Astrodome tonight at 8 p.m. EDT is a $100,000 winner-take-all purse.

"It is immaterial to me who wins," said actor Dustin Hoffman, who will be watching the match with his tennis teacher at a private party in New York. "What I would like to see develop out of this match is for Billie Jean King and Bobby Riggs to fall in love, get married and raise champion unisex tennis players."

Feminist Gloria Steinem and others at Ms. magazine are planning a "tremendous bash" for the staff with lots of money riding on Billie Jean, of course.

Other party-givers are commemorating the event with souvenirs for their guests. A Long Island hostess has ordered "You've come a long way, baby" T-shirts for the women and red roses for the men. She has limited her guest list to the 12 best tennis players she knows and will be serving hors d'oeuvres on tiny plastic tennis racquets.

Little Brown Jug Has Unusual Field

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The richest Little Brown Jug in history today was more of a mystery than any that's been raced at the rustic Delaware County Fairgrounds.

The uncertainty was reflected in the probable odds. Six of the field of 3-year-old pacers were shorter than 5-1 for the record purse of $120,000 in the final jewel of the Triple Crown.

Railbirds favored Melvin's Woe and Ricci Reenie Time, both 3-1.
Armbrone Nesbit and Rob Ron Ritzar, a virtual outsider, were next at 7-2. Then came Valiant Bret and J.R. Skipper at 9-2.

Valiant Bret, The Messenger titleholder, and Smog, which won the Cane, had captured the first two legs of the Triple Crown, but neither was a solid choice in the two-division race.

Smog was lumped at 8-1 along with Keystone Smartie, American Skipper, Billy Joe Byrd and Honey Cane. Otaro Hanover was 5-1, Gay Skipper and Steady Airliner 6-1.

The only pacers not considered bonafide threats were Racing Knight and Faraway Bay, both 10-1, and 12-1 Playboy Hanover.

It was the largest field since 1961, when a record 19 went to the post. The purse eclipsed the previous record of $109,731 four years ago.

The first four finishers in each division returned for a raceoff and the first horse to win two heats would be declared the 1973 Jug champion.

Saigon Threatens To Hit Airfields

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government today threatened military action against 12 airfields it claims the North Vietnamese have built in the northern part of South Vietnam.

"If words fail, then we shall have to use swords," government spokesman Bui Bao Truc told a news conference.

The government made public a note it sent Sept. 7 to the guarantors of the Vietnam peace agreement. The note declared that development of the airfields and movement of troops and war equipment into territory below the demilitarized zone amount to "intensive warlike preparations to reopen hostilities."

Last week the South Vietnamese government released what it said were aerial photographs of the 12 airfields which it said have been built or repaired and surrounded by anti-aircraft installations.

The Paris peace agreement provides that Saigon, the Viet Cong and their allies may not introduce new war materiel into South Vietnam except as replacements on a piece-for-piece basis.

The note said Saigon "reserves its right to carry out appropriate measures to protect the integrity of its territory."

It was sent to the 11 nations that endorsed the Paris peace agreements last March. They included the United States, the Soviet Union, China, Britain and France.

The Saigon military command said today that six government rangers were killed and 10 were wounded when the Viet Cong shelled their post near the Cambodian border 105 miles southwest of Saigon.

In Tay Ninh province 70 miles northwest of Saigon, Viet Cong troops attacked a government outpost near Hieu Thien district town but were repulsed and 10 of their soldiers were killed, the command said. No government casualties were reported.

Maria Callas Postpones Appearance

LONDON (AP) — An eye ailment has forced soprano Maria Callas to postpone her first public appearance in eight years, despite a sell-out crowd for the Saturday recital at the Royal Festival Hall.

Another recital was scheduled for Nov. 26 and the 49-year-old opera singer said from Paris Wednesday that her doctor "assures us that I will be able to perform by the end of November."

Hotel Hit By Blaze

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Several hundred persons, including the Osmonds singing group, were evacuated from Caesars Palace Hotel here early today as a fire swept through the seventh floor of one wing, authorities reported.

There were no reported injuries, although one woman was treated for smoke inhalation at a local hospital. She later was released, said Sidney Gathrit, executive director of public relations for the hotel.

The blaze erupted about 3 a.m. and was reported by a passing cab driver who saw flames shooting from the seventh floor of the massive hotel, Gathrit said.

The north wing, which contains 300 rooms, was booked solid, he added. All guests were evacuated, including the Osmonds, now appearing at the hotel.

Cause of the blaze was not known, nor was the extent of damage.

Units of the Las Vegas and Clark County fire departments responded to the alarm and Gathrit said the blaze was under control within 15 minutes.

Veto Upheld; Labor Angry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The failure by Congress to override President Nixon's veto of a bill raising the minimum wage has dimmed prospects for any increase this year.

Embittered labor leaders took a "no compromise" attitude on key provisions of the bill Wednesday after the House fell 23 votes short in its effort to override the veto.

The 259-164 vote killed a bill that would have raised the $1.60 an hour minimum to $2 this year and $2.20 next July 1, and extended minimum wage coverage to 6 million state and local government employees and a million household domestics.

Nixon called the proposed increases inflationary and objected to the added coverage. He also said failure to provide a lower wage rate for teenage workers would increase youth unemployment.

The President followed up his victory—his sixth sustained victory—with a request for Congress to draw a new bill to his specifications.

But AFL-CIO sources said there could be no compromise on the issues of extended coverage and a youth differential wage rate — the two provisions most responsible for the veto.

And Rep. John H. Dent, D-Pa., manager of the bill, wound up an emotional plea to the House to override the veto by saying he would leave Congress before he would support a bill that provided a sub-minimum wage for teenagers.

Dent said low-paid workers would be better off waiting until the next Congress in hopes the Democrats would pick up enough seats to override a veto, rather than accept a Nixon administration bill.

However, Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, which has jurisdiction over minimum wage legislation, said he would try to work out a compromise between Congress and the administration.

Scavenger Gets Bronze Plates From Memorial

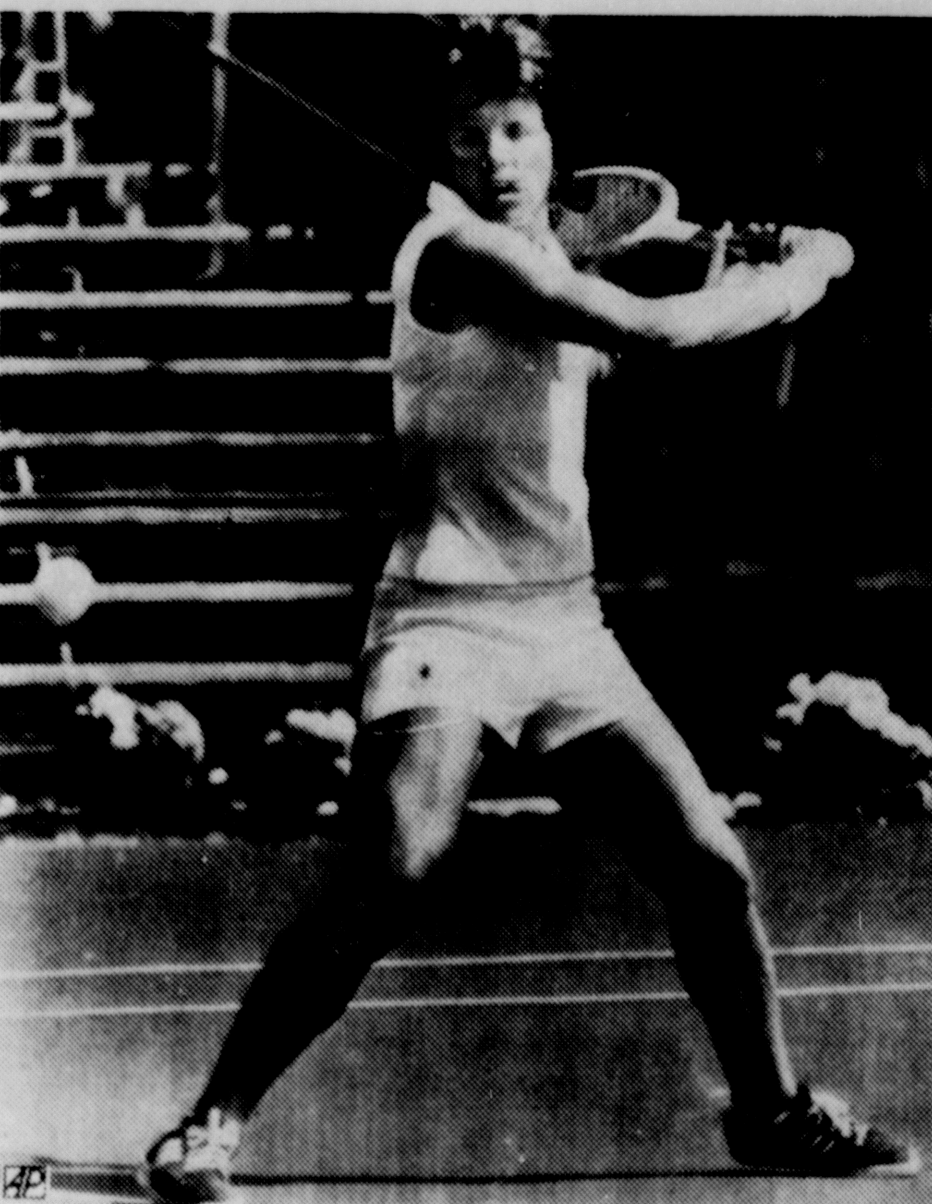

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A metal scavenger, using a crow bar, pried loose four bronze plates from the Mohawk Businessmen's War Memorial Wednesday night leaving police with several problems.

The once-thriving German neighborhood is now a decaying slum and the businessmen's association no longer exists.

The memorial was set up shortly after World War II to eulogize neighborhood men who served, were wounded or died in the war. More plaques were added after the Korean War.

Recently, Boy Scouts cut weeds and put the memorial in order.

Taft Again Measure To Curb Big Pensions

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, cast one of 59 votes Wednesday against an amendment by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., which would have limited pensions to corporation executives to $45,000 a year.

The amendment was defeated 59-32.

U.S. Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, was not recorded as voting.

The Buzz Won't Bring The Fuzz

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston detective says anti-theft devices on new cars help very little in preventing a car from being stolen.

"The professionals always seem to find the ways and means to take cars they want," burglary and theft Det. J.D. Hunt says.

Late model cars have been rolling off the assembly lines equipped with what manufacturers call improved ignition safety systems and other items such as locking steering wheel mechanisms. Burglary alarms on a few makes of cars were offered as optional equipment.

"A big screw driver is usually all it takes to break the steering wheel locks," Hunt says. "And thieves have even used wreckers to haul away some cars."

Hunt says the last real improvement on cars came a few years ago when one manufacturer stopped making ignitions where the car could be started without the key — in the "off" instead of "lock" position.

"That was changed and it probably had some effect on the 'joy riding' thieves," Hunt says.

Flags Of Germanys Receive U.N. Salutes

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The flags of West and East Germany were hoisted side by side at U.N. headquarters today as country after country congratulated the two Germanys on their entry into the world organization.

Study Changes In Veep Selection

WASHINGTON (AP) — A time of vice presidential troubles may be the prelude to change in the way political parties nominate candidates for the No. 2 spot on their national tickets.

First came the trauma of the Democrats over the replacement of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton as their nominee for vice president in 1972.

Now the Republican administration is beset with problems raised by the investigation of Vice President Spiro

T. Agnew in connection with alleged political graft in Maryland.

Agnew has denied any wrongdoing.

Whatever the outcome of the federal inquiry, it is likely to be difficult for a future presidential nominee to name his running mate in the traditional way and gain immediate, virtually automatic ratification of his choice.

Reform panels in both parties have been assigned to examine the vice presidential nominating process and consider possible changes.

Eagleton resigned from the Democratic ticket after disclosing that he had been hospitalized for mental exhaustion and depression. Sen. George McGovern learned of that only after Eagleton's nomination as his running mate.

Eagleton was a last-minute choice whose background got only a cursory check before he was selected.

With the panels assigned to look into changes in the vice presidential nominating process, the problem is one of opening up the selection system while avoiding the possibility that a party might wind up with incompatible running mates.

One possibility would be to have presidential and vice presidential candidates run as a team in the primary elections. Another might be to encourage campaigning by vice presidential hopefuls in those primaries. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, who heads the Democratic commission on the subject, has mentioned those possibilities.

Another option would be to have the presidential nominee give the convention a list of vice presidential prospects acceptable to him, and let the delegates choose among them.

Another would be to separate by at least a full day the convention sessions at which the presidential and vice

It would be well to see that everything around your progeny is light and airy to brighten the spirit here. Teach early not to be overly sensitive at what others might say. Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Tonight's the big night for the ABC Television network and nine national sponsors. They're bringing us what ABC calls the "Tennis Battle of the Sexes."

The battle, which commences at 8 p.m. EDT, has been publicized occasionally. As I understand it, the thing will occur in the Houston Astrodome. The winner gets 100 grand and the loser nothing.

The duelers are Billie Jean King and Bobby Rags or Ruggs or something. I forget his name. He apparently has been in seclusion the last two months and hasn't been written about much.

However, close associates of this Reggs or Roggs fellow, whatever his name is, have managed to leak word to a few reporters that he is believed to be 55 years old and a tennis pro.

They say he wants to beat Mrs. King, who is 29, to prove that if you take 300 vitamin pills a day you will feel just swell, although you may rattle a bit.

Dispatches from the field quote him as saying he considers tonight's match a test of male supremacy. Women's Lib advocates insist he'll fail the test. But remember, it's only a game.

This Higgs chap, despite his reluctance to grant interviews, will be heard from in coming weeks. NBC says he'll appear next Wednesday night on Bob Hope's first TV special of this season.

And CBS says he'll appear as a "token male" next Oct. 19 on a comedy special about women called "The Shape of

"If he's not careful, he'll become better-known than the first man to go over Niagara Falls in a beer firkin.

If you don't dig tennis, tonight's big show on CBS is "Bonnie and Clyde," which is sort of a "Love Story" set to musketry. It starts at 9 p.m. EDT, an hour after ABC's forecourt follies begin.

Those who saw the movie in 1967 may recall that it had a lot of bank holdups, chase scenes and gore. At the end, Bonnie and Clyde got theirs in a bulletfilled slow-motion sequence that went on for 22 seconds.

CBS hasn't trimmed the movie too heavily, but it has cut the slo-mo fatal finale to six seconds and excised some of the more gory scenes, according to network officials.

Even with the cuts, the movie remains strong adult fare and those who haven't seen it are herewith alerted, particularly if they have youngsters near the tube when the movie begins.

Turning now from gunnery to boxing, we're advised that former heavyweight champ Muhammad Ali has been signed to make his debut as the star and host of a one-hour musical variety special for TV.

Ali will sing and dance in the program, according to spokesmen for Pasetta Productions, which will start taping the show in late November. There's no word yet if Robby Higgs will be on it.

Keep Eyes On The Road

CHICAGO (AP) — If you watch cars go by you'll see job opportunities galore.

The jobs are in automotive technology and the people who fill them are service mechanics, parts managers and clerks, salesmen, service station operators and diesel technicians.

They amount to millions of persons who sell, service and maintain America's giant automotive industry.

Robert Tew, chairman of the Automotive Technology Program at Kennedy-King College here, says, "There are no limits to opportunities in the automotive industry."

"People continue to buy more cars," he explains, "and, spurred on by consumer groups, the government, personal experience and the auto industry itself, the public demands proper service and maintenance because of pollution and other factors."

The technicians and mid-management personnel who will service car owners are trained in theory classes and "hands-on" labs, which include a 12-car service bay and small engine, heavy equipment, body service and diesel laboratories.

Counterbugger Called In Watergate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Counterbugging expert John Ragan, who has been called as a surprise witness in the Senate Watergate hearings, worked simultaneously for the Republican party and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Ragan worked as a $100-a-day security consultant for the Republican National Committee from 1969 until September 1971. He also was sent by ITT in early 1971 to assist the late Chilean President Salvador Allende. An ITT spokesman denied that Ragan's mission to Chile was related to his work at the Republican party.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, chairman of the Watergate committee, announced Tuesday that Ragan would be one of the first witnesses when the panel's hearings resume Monday.

Also on the list are convicted Watergate wiretapper E. Howard Hunt Jr., White House speechwriter Patrick J. Buchanan and a previous witness, John J. Caulfield, who allegedly supervised undercover activities for the White House.

Ragan's name turned up once before in Watergate testimony. Ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III mentioned Ragan as having reportedly helped wiretap the home of columnist Joseph Kraft.

Reached by telephone at his home in Massapequa, N.Y., Ragan said he had undertaken a "feasibility study" at Kraft's home in 1969. But he denied involvement in any bugging. "There was no tap," he said.

Few Controls Over Medical Lab Procedure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Health confirmed today reports that there are almost no controls over medical laboratory procedures in Ohio.

The department agreed with a Cleveland radio station, WHK, which had reported that lab procedures are governed by only one law—the one covering premarital blood tests for syphilis.

Croft said New York and some other states have enacted laws requiring patients to be billed directly by the labs instead of through the physicians. He said Ohio has no such law.

Anti-Discrimination

Bill Signed Into Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan signed into law today a measure outlawing discrimination on the basis of sex in Ohio.

He called the measure by Rep. Pete Crossland, D-42 Akron, "the first positive response to a seven-year concern for women's rights."

The law prohibits sex discrimination in employment, housing and public accommodations and authorizes the Ohio Civil Rights Commission to investigate and resolve complaints of sex bias.

Three sources close to the committee also said that Ragan would be questioned about President Nixon's alleged wiretapping of his brother, F. Donald Nixon. But Ragan said he knows nothing about that.

Ragan said he has been interviewed by the committee's investigators three times and has told them he has little information to offer.

Ragan, 59, worked for the FBI for 24 years before retiring in 1964. He said his last 11 years were spent in "technical matters," meaning electronic surveillance and bugging. He now works as a private security consultant, specializing in anti-bugging measures.

Ragan said that his trip to Chile was in April and May of 1971, four months before he ended his ties to the Republican party.

An ITT spokesman in New York said Ragan was hired for the job after Allende, suspecting that his telephones were tapped, asked the ITT-owned national telephone company for help.

Ragan said the Watergate committee investigators were skeptical that ITT would be helping Allende, whose government the firm opposed. "They just couldn't believe it," he said.
